Photo Courtesy: Witthaya Prasongsin/Moment/Getty Images Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, unemployment rates rose sharply in the United States in the spring of 2020. To qualify for unemployment, an individual who lost their job must be eligible for work, able to work and actively seeking employment. Even worse, months later, many jobless people were still desperately trying to cut through all the red tape and the massive volume of people to file their own unemployment claims. Additionally, if your application is denied for any reason, you have the right to file an appeal to try to overturn the denial.Step 3: Verify Your IdentityDuring the initial application process, each state's unemployment division will ask you to verify and authenticate your identity. You'll be required to answer some questions about any work you completed each week as well as any other income you received. It depends on the reason you were fired, and the rules vary by state. The online process isn't just helpful for pandemic safety reasons. Finally, keep in mind that unemployment benefits are taxable, so it's generally wise to choose to have taxes withheld from each payment when you first open your claim.Step 5: Collect Your Unemployment BenefitsMost claims are processed within two to three calendar weeks or 10 business days, although delays could occur during times of high claim volumes. Dale Reed, 2005 Talay, 1975 Lecture Notes on Gas Dynamics by Joseph M. While you may be breathing an initial sigh of relief once your initial claim is processed, be sure to maintain your eligibility status by continuing your job search as directed.Step 6: File Your Weekly Payment Request and Keep Up the Job SearchOnce you start receiving unemployment benefits, you have to file weekly or biweekly (varies by state) payment requests online to be paid — no exceptions. Texas, for example, waived their work search requirement for many months but reinstated it on November 1. Without a doubt, the ongoing pandemic throws a bit of a wrench into the process of actively seeking work, so that component may vary from state to state and could change at any time. A. By the end of April, a staggering 30 million Americans had filed for unemployment benefits. In most cases, you will file a claim with the state where you most recently worked, but if you recently relocated from another state, that may not be the case. Moreover, if you willingly quit your job, are an independent contractor or otherwise self-employed, or can't go back to work for health or other reasons, you might not qualify. I. Hanaway and Robert W. Nearly all unemployment agencies accept claims online, especially in light of the COVID-19 pandemic. If you lost your job due to the pandemic or other reasons, here are the steps to take next to file an unemployment claim online.Step 1: Contact Your State Unemployment AgencyWhether you were laid off because of the pandemic or lost your job due to other unforeseen circumstances, filing for unemployment benefits is one way to cover a portion of your monthly bills while you're between jobs. (Exceptions are currently in place to qualify independent contractors and the self-employed, but those rules expire at the end of 2020.) Photo Courtesy: Stefan Wermuth/Bloomberg/Getty Images Each state has different compliance requirements with respect to minimum wages and working hours, so we recommend consulting your state's unemployment agency for details. If you fail to answer the questions correctly — or don't consent to this process — you will most likely be asked to provide the agency with documents that verify your identity.Step 4: File Your ClaimOnce you confirm your eligibility, it's time to file your claim. Powers, 2011, 323 pages, 2.4MB, PDF Introduction to the Aerodynamics of Flight by Theodore A. Widnall, J. The state agency will provide guidance on that as well as any other issues that could impact your claim.Step 2: Determine Your EligibilityAs stated earlier, you need to meet certain criteria in order to be eligible for unemployment benefits. During this interview, you will be asked specific questions about your employment background and other information mentioned in your claim. In some cases, people who were fired, suspended or asked to take a leave of absence don't qualify for unemployment. Depending on the state you reside in, you will be eligible to apply for unemployment benefits online, in person, on the phone or by mailing in a claim form. If you're wondering how to file a claim after all the changes, we can help you figure it out. Although this rule may vary by state at times due to special circumstances (like a global pandemic), the general rule of thumb is that you're expected to pursue work leads every week and report your work search efforts in your weekly claim.Do you have COVID-19-specific questions about unemployment benefits and stimulus checks? Deyst, E. Photo Courtesy: svetikd/E+/Getty Images Finally, it's important to keep in mind that unemployment benefits are usually contingent upon a recipient doing their part to actively look for a new job. Virtual systems also reduce errors and speed up the claim process. V. Moorehead, 1989 Spacecraft Dynamics by Thomas R. Long story short, where you're currently residing might not be the state that will pay you unemployment benefits if you haven't lived there long.
